
NEWKINGS OFFICIAL BIO

NewKings is a four-piece band from Oklahoma. Formed in 2013, the band consists of Aaron Ray Vaughan, Jeff Wann, Josh “Pugzly” Adams, & Caleb “Jack” Adams. Encompassing the sounds of folk, rock, gospel, blues & soul, the band’s unique sound is driven by gritty vocals over American roots music.

EXTENDED BIO:

NewKings’ origins are found in an old country church in Oklahoma. What began as an impromptu music session led to the realization that the group had something special to offer with their uniquely rich and earthy sound. Soon after, NewKings was officially formed and the group began their journey where they found the opportunity to share the stage with acts such as X Ambassadors and Plain White T’s, along with the President of the United States at the 2017 National Boy Scout Jamboree, and major Christian recording artists, Shane & Shane, NewSong, and Chris August. A journey that in 2019 led the group to historic Sound Kitchen Studio to work with GRAMMY nominated and GMA Dove Award winning producer, Robert Venable.

NewKings has been sought as a cross-genre band, exploring the folk, rock, and alt-country scenes, a venture that has taken the group across the United States and beyond, with stops in the UK. NewKings has appeared multiple times on KTUL ABC 8’s “Good Day Tulsa”, were a special guest artist for the 2017 Boy Scout Jamboree at Summit Betchel Reserve in West Virginia, and were a main-stage artist at Creation Fest UK in 2018. NewKings’ latest project, “No River”, recorded at Sound Kitchen Studio, was released nationally to radio and television in 2020.
